LIGHTS FLICKER. SOUND EFFECT: SPACESHIP WHIRRING, louder, closer. After SOUND STOPS, BLORP ENTERS, looking at a large map. BLOP follows ON.)

BLOP: That is the last time I let you use that map.

BLORP: Nothing like a good old-fashioned map to guide you through the galaxy. At least that's what our point of contact said.

10

BLOP: Yeah, well he's from this planet. He understands those things.

BLIP: (Rushes ON.) I have to use the restroom.

BLORP: What? Didn't you just go when we got gas sixty-four and a half million light years back?

BLIP: Yeah, but I had that jumbo drink.

15

BLORP: (Points.) Just go over there, behind those bushes. (BLIP EXITS.)

BLOP: Our point of contact was correct. This planet is very similar to ours.

BLORP: Well, of course it is. It is a fact that Earth and Zordon are sister planets.

20

BLOP: Oh yeah, that's right. And Mercury and Venus are our cousin planets?

BLORP: That is correct.

BLIP: (ENTERS.) I thought Neptune and Pluto were our cousins.

25

BLORP: No, Neptune is our grandmother planet.

BLIP: Then what does that make Pluto?

BLOP: Pluto was our grandfather planet. Rest its soul. (They bow their heads and do spirit fingers.)

BLIP: So, where do we go from here?

30

BLORP: (Looks at the map.) Let's see. Hmm... I think we go this way... (Begins to walk left. Stops.) ...Or is it this way... (Begins to walk right. Stops.) We're right here, so that would put our point of contact right... (Walks in a circle twice.)

35

BLOP: Stop. You're making me dizzy.
